

CHEMISTRY AS A LIFE SCIENCE Symposium XIV

Friday the 21st of March, 2008

Paul Robeson Campus Center

Essex Auditorium

Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey

Newark, New Jersey

Program

- 7:30 – 8:30 Complimentary Continental Breakfast
Paul Robeson Café, Plaza Level
- 8:30 a.m. Welcome and Opening Remarks
- Professor Stan S. Hall
Rutgers University
- Dr. Rick Ewing
Bristol-Myers Squibb
- 8:45 a.m. Professor Paul Knochel
Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität
- “Preparation of Functionalized Organomagnesium Reagents”*
- 9:45 a.m. Professor Dirk Trauner
University of California-Berkeley
- “Synthetic Neurobiology”*
- 10:45 a.m. Professor Carl Djerassi
Stanford University
- “Thoughts on Passing 80”*
- Noon Lunch Break
- 2:00 p.m. Professor Justin Du Bois
Stanford University
- “Allure of Guanidinium Toxins as Targets for Chemical Synthesis”*
- 3:00 p.m. Professor Alanna Schepartz
Yale University
- “Imaging Protein Conformation and Association in Live Cells with Small Molecules”*
- 4:00 p.m. Professor Phil S. Baran
The Scripps Research Institute
- “Catalytic Cycle of Discovery in Total Synthesis”*
- 5:00 p.m. Closing Remarks
Complimentary Reception
Paul Robeson Galleries
Plaza Level